Introduction to Governing With Community

Cuts in funding. Communities know what they don't want, but not what they do want. Traditional community engagement strategies not delivering. Conditions for connecting with a community have never been so complex. Great Place can help your organisation find opportunities in the midst of this complexity

Description

You will learn how Great Place can enable your organisation to connect strategically with communities.

Be introduced to some of the emerging local and global conditions that will impact your organisation and the community it's working with.

See how the Great Place approach can lead to a transformation of your approach to understanding communities.

The introduction is a two hour interactive workshop held either on-site at your organisation or online.

Outcomes

You will gain a basic understanding of the Great Place approach and method.

You will also gain early identification of key issues – challenges and opportunities that are facing your organisation, the community it's working with and action which you can take to take turn both these challenges and opportunities to your advantage.
